Abstract. In February 2002, British Prime Minister Tony Blair warned that the West could face new terrorist threats unless measures were taken to relieve African poverty (BBC World Service, Feb 6, 2002). Comparing the continent's plight to that of Afghanistan ten years ago, when it was allowed "to deteriorate into a failed state living on drugs and terrorism," Tony Blair said: "In the ...

Across the country the female inmate population is exploding, as more and more women are coming to prison for longer sentences. Officials in New Mexico are tackling this problem head-on by creating a new experimental prison for female inmates that provides jobs and freedom of movement in an attempt to adjust them to the outside world and reduce the possibility of reoffending after release.

Olaudah Equiano (c. 1745 - 31 March 1797), known for most of his life as Gustavus Vassa (/ ' v æ s ə /), was a writer and abolitionist from, according to his memoir, the Eboe region of the Kingdom of Benin (today southern Nigeria). Enslaved as a child, he was taken to the Caribbean and sold as a slave to a Royal Navy officer. He was sold twice more but purchased his freedom in 1766.
